On promise, responsibility

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
PROMISE AND RESPONSIBILITY
Lesson for July 17, 1983
Bible Study Passage: I Samuel 1-2:10

Introduction

There's an old saying about the making of a promise. "Don't make promises you cannot possibly keep." Perhaps you have heard that saying quoted a dozen different ways, but the idea remains the same. Promises are delicate oaths we often make in haste without thought or evaluation.

We know that promises are easily made and easily broken. We make promises to our spouse, our children, our friends, our Lord, and our church. As time goes by, however, we forget our promises or intentionally break them. It's true, we shouldn't make promises we are not willing to keep. But our human fragility and sinfulness often finds us breaking our promises and forgetting our responsibility. Does the fact that we are sinful and forgetful let us off the hook? No.

When God made a promise he set a rainbow in the sky and said, "I will look upon it that I may remember . . ." We, too, must exercise responsibility and remember our promises to the people we love and who love us. We must also remember the promises we make to serve the Lord with our life. This week's lesson looks at a woman who made a promise and kept it.

Prayer and Promise [I Samuel 1:9-18]

Hannah is not a common household name among Bible reading Christians. We have no knowledge of this woman apart from her son, Samuel. This does not mean she lived in his shadow; it implies that here was a domestic person who quietly practiced her servanthood to God through prayer and a promise.

Hannah was one of two wives of Elkanah. His other wife, Peninnah, constantly harassed Hannah about her inability to conceive and bare a child. Such harassment was very painful for Hannah, as it would be for any woman who would like to have a child but cannot.

Hannah loved God and prayed to him for a child. In her prayer she promised that her son would be totally dedicated to the Lord. When Hannah prayed this prayer, she was in the temple. The priest (Eli) heard her and believed that she was drunk. After a brief squabble with the priest over her manner of prayer, she received Eli's blessing and departed.

The Birth of Samuel [I Samuel 1:19-28]

God listened to Hannah's prayer and granted her a son. About three years later Hannah took Samuel and left him in the care of those who ministered and worked at the temple. In so doing, Hannah fulfilled her promise to God to dedicate her son to him. Such a promise may have been difficult to keep, for how does one easily give up a child to the care of others?

Perhaps we do not feel any inclination to give up our children to God's work, but there is a need to fulfill our obligations to the Lord's work. God does not ask us to be perfect, but he does ask us to be faithful.

Hannah's Celebration [I Samuel 2:1-10]

When Hannah gave birth to her child, it must have been an exhilarating moment. It is natural for a mother to express joy over the birth of a child,but Hannah sings a song of celebration upon the dedication of her child to the Lord. Hannah joyfully gave thanks for the miracle that God wrought in her life.

Life is meant to be lived in an attitude of celebration and praise. Hannah prayed and praised the Lord's gift of life. Hannah gave birth to a child who would one day affect the history of the Hebrew people. Her unselfish giving is an inspiration to those who seek to follow the Lord.

Galilee news

They that wait upon the Lord, shall renew their strength.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend regular preaching services at Galilee this coming Sunday at 11 a.m. Pastor Davis is on vacation and we will hear a guest minister.

The Sunday School and Youth Services Departments are planning their annual trip for Saturday, July 16. The bus will leave Galilee at 7 a.m. for Kings Dominion.

Revival plans are being finalized at Galilee. Our annual homecoming and revival will take place on the first Sunday in August.

We are happy that brother Pleas Patterson Sr. is now a resident of Appomattox.

Cadet Herbert L. Allen Jr. of VPI has successfully completed the Air Force ROTC field training session at Plattsburg AFB, N.Y. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Allen of Appomattox.

The community was saddened to hear of the death of Brother Dan Goode of Evergreen. It is our prayer that God will comfort each family member at this time.

We congratulate Mrs. Dora Tanner of First Baptist Church for her outstanding accomplishments in the field of education.

As we look forward to greater and more consecrated service to Jesus Christ, the harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Please remember the lonely, oppressed and aged in our prayers.

Jordan news

The Gospel Harmonettes would like to thank everyone who participated in the drawing for the country ham and would like to congratulate the winner - Mrs. Margaret Scott of Pamplin.

On the fourth Sunday in July we will observe our annual homecoming day. The Rev. Elliott and the Alabama Choir will be our 11 a.m. guests. The Rev. William Coleman and his people from Crossroad Baptist Church will be the afternoon guests. Revival will begin on Monday night, with the Rev. Coleman as evangelist for the week.

On the fifth Sunday in July at 3 p.m. the Free Springs Men's Chorus will be in concert here. Plan to attend for an afternoon of good singing.

On August 6, there will be a family protrait taking. Get an 11" x 14" picture of your family for $5.00. See any member of the Gospel Harmonettes for details.

Good News For Homemakers

All about 'new' potatoes

By SHIRLEY W. WALTON
Extension Agent

Thin-skinned, moist, new potatoes are now available from our garden or from the local supermarket. New potatoes are called "new" because they are very young, having been freshly dug and either put on our tables or sold directly in the supermarkets. The slight sweet taste from the new potato comes from natural sugars that have not undergone the final enzymatic change into starch. It is the conversion of sugar to starch that signals the maturity in a potato.

Each summer you hear people remark, "Oh, nothing tastes as good as a new potato." Yes, potatoes do taste especially good after eating the old starchy ones that we have had left over from the previous year's crop.

New potatoes have a nutritional plus in that they are an important source of ascorbic acid (Vitamin C), second only to citrus fruits. Ascorbic acid content does decrease with storage time and with reduced temperatures. Thus, new potatoes need not be refrigerated in order to retain their quality or nutrients, and should be used within three to four days to get the peak nutrition from them.

Of course, new potatoes are hardy and good keepers, but bruise easily. We know that we can't use potatoes up in three to four days because it is one of our good crops that we store during the long winters. The point is, if you do wish to have the best flavor from the new potatoes, rather than digging a bushel at one time, why not dig several meals at one time that you will be using during the next three to four day period.

If you are purchasing potatoes in the supermarket, very carefully handle them and sort through them. You may also purchase them in five to ten pound bags. Again, look carefully to make sure that none ot the potatoes are spoiled. New potatoes, as well as those that have been stored during the winter, are excellent sources of phosphorus, potassium and Vitamin C. They are also a good source of calcium and protein.

Many times people call and want to know if they can bake new potatoes or make potato salad from new potatoes or will a new potato alter a favorite recipe. The answer is yes you can bake new potatoes. You can use them in any recipe you wish to do so. The only thing you will find when using new potatoes is that the moisture content is considerably higher and that less cooking time is required.

Many of you have requested from time to time that I add some historical information about vegetables. Each of the vegetables that we consume daily has an interesting history. The Inca Indians in the Andes Mountains cultivated potatoes as early as 500 B.C. Would you believe it took 15 centuries later before people of our continent knew and accepted the potato as a desirable food?

Many questions are asked each year about storing potatoes. Raw potatoes should not be refrigerated uner 40°F. because the starch will convert back to sugar and destroy the consistency and flavor of the potato. Stored above 70°F., potatoes begin to shrivel and sprout within a week and the potato industry tells us, do not store potatoes and onions together. Each gives off gas detrimental to the other.

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call 352-8244 or you may write us at P.O. Box 488, Appomattox, VA 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you. I hope you will use the potato facts we have shared with you this week. Would you believe that Irish potatoes contribute about $20,000,000 to the Virginia industry of agriculture. They also contribute needed nutrients to our diet daily. You could almost say, "A potato a day keeps the doctor away." Of course, there is no scientific way to prove this, but if you are watching your food dollars, there is not a better way to get good nutrition on the table for your family than by adding potatoes daily.

Have a good week!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Cheesy Potato Casserole

4 cups peeled, cubed new white potatoes
1 cup commercial sour cream
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cream-style cottage cheese
½ cup chopped green onions
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup (2 ounces) shredded cheddar cheese
1 green onion with top (optional)
Paprika

Cook potatoes in boiled salted water 15 to 20 minutes or until tender; then drain well. (Note: 2 16-ounce cans of cooked new white potatoes may be substituted.) Combine next 6 ingredients in a large bowl; mix well. Stir in potatoes. Spoon mixture into a lightly greased 1½ quart casserole; bake at 350° for 25 minutes. Top with cheese; sprinkle lightly with paprika. Bake an additional 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Garnish with green onion, if desired. Makes 6 servings.
